

TURKEY,
SMYRNA, June 15th, 1847.

A gentleman who has come from Constantinople gives me an account of a fresh triumph of American intellect in this benighted region. It is nothing more or less than the establishment of a Mechanics' Institute on the banks of the Bosphorus, at Makrikieney, where the American colony are planting, with their cotton and corn, seeds of civilization, calculated to effect more for the regeneration of Turkey than scores of diplomats, with their orders of merit and squabbles for precedence.

The Sultan has given this infant society a house, and one of the most enlightened officers, Dervish Pasha, has joined it, in common with many other Americans, English, Turks, French and Armenians. The founders, Drs. Smith and Davis, both Americans, have commenced a course of public lectures, and on Saturday last fifty of the members sat down to a fraternal dinner, with speeches, toasts, &c. &c. The medical gentlemen above mentioned have, it will be remembered by those who read my former letters, national schools of mineralogy and agriculture at Zeytoun Bournou, which as well as the cotton manufactory of Mr. Phillips, flourish well.

FLORIDA TURPENTINE.—A New Arrival. —There was brought down the St. Marks river, to this place, on Saturday last, 44 barrels Turpentine. This cargo was made some eight miles above Newburyport, and is the result of an experiment of N. B. Bemis, Esq., the present State Auditor. This is the first time, we believe, that Turpentine has been made to any extent worth mentioning, in Middle Florida. Mr. B., (who deserves much credit for his enterprise,) has expressed to us the opinion that the article can be made with profit in this section of Florida. —Newport Gazette.

LOUIS PHILIPPE, HIS SONS-IN-LAW, AND THEIR MARRIAGE SETTLEMENTS.—There has been a painful rumor afloat for some time past concerning a serious difference which has arisen between the Prince of Wurtemberg, husband of the late lamented Princess Marie, and his own father-in-law, concerning the marriage settlements, which have not as yet been fulfilled. Louis Philippe cannot make up his mind to satisfy the demand of his hungry sons-in-law. Poor Leopold has waited long enough for his unhappy million, which was to have been paid immediately after his marriage with the Princess Louise, and which is still owing, although he has a son thirteen years of age. The frequent visits of the King of the Belgians always excite the keen wit of the courtiers, the more so as he has invariably "gone empty away." Louis Philippe has too much cunning to be surprised, and too much suavity to be bullied there is no possibility of circumventing him in money matters. —Paris Letter.

PATHEIC.—We clip the following from the Brooklyn Advertiser:

"A Recluse.—There dwells in a secluded part of this city, in a hovel of a wretched and obscure exterior, a young female, of singular beauty, who for three years past has lived a recluse from association with the world, save in the common intercourse forced upon her by the purchase of her household articles. She is reputed to be immensely rich, and is known to be in possession of jewels of rare value; but whence she came, who she is, or what her object in pursuing a career so strange, no one can divine. Since she has been an occupant of the place, no visitor has been known to enter her abode, and lovely as she is in form and feature, she appears studiously to avoid the rude sex, and seems to entertain for man insuperable aversion. There is a mystery connected with her which the most curious and inquisitive are unable to fathom, and a deep and all-absorbing interest in relation to her has been excited among many whom her personal charms have won to admiration."

A CHANGE.—The magnificent villa of Joseph Bonaparte at Bordentown, where in his fallen fortunes, he had assembled the books, the pictures and the bijouterie which, in his days of royalty and power, he had collected from all parts of Europe, has been sold and is to be converted into a manufactory of glass.—"To what vile uses may we come at last." Alexander's body made to stop the bung hole of a beer barrel is scarcely worse than this. Where now is that "divinity which doth hedge a king?" Furnaces are to be erected in the halls, and bottles for Swain's Panacea blown in the chambers, where the elder brother of the great Napoleon was wont to ruminate upon the strange revolutions of that wheel of fortune which raised a family from obscurity to place its members upon the thrones of the world, and then, in less than one short life, hurled these very actors from the thrones on which they had been placed to die in the obscurity from which they had temporarily emerged.

PUBLIC DEBT OF OHIO.—It is proposed to make some movement towards paying off the public debt of Ohio. It now amounts to $19,246,260, and the interest to $1,624,260.

A little girl walking in the cemetery of Pere la Chaise, at Paris, and reading one after another the praises upon the tombs of those who slept beneath, suddenly exclaimed, "I wonder where they bury all the sinners?"

HEN AND KITTENS.—We were called this morning to witness a very singular freak of a hen, which, for several days past, has taken into her charge four young kittens, covering them under her wings just as she would a brood of chickens. It is with great difficulty that the old cat succeeds in affording nourishment necessary to sustain life, as the hen often shows fight on her approach. The natural mother of these kittens embraces the opportunity to nourish them in the absence of the antagonist of the feathered tribe. —Jersey City Sentinel.

MR. BENNETT, of the New York Herald, in one of his recent letters from London, remarks:

"It is a singular truth, that in Germany alone there is sympathy for the U. States movements in Mexico; and this is among the higher classes of society. I have an extraordinary fact to state on this subject. Not long since, an application was made by one or more young officers in the military service of Prussia, for letters to the United States, for the purpose of entering her armies as volunteers in the present war with Mexico. One of these applications was from a young officer in the Prussian army, and closely connected with the upper ranks of society. Through Chevalier Bunsen, the Prussian Minister in London, he has procured letters to some of the American generals, and probably is now on his way to the United States to serve as a volunteer. He is a sort of German Lafayette, and will be followed by many other German military men of high rank, and singular enthusiasm."

A mechanical miracle, almost, has just been performed at Providence, Rhode Island. An immense mill, five stories high, and 250 feet long by 100 wide, owned by Fletcher & Brothers, having been badly built, declined so much from the perpendicular as to become almost a second tower of Pisa. It was also bowed in at the sides. All feared that it would fall. But see what mechanical genius can perform! By the application of screws and wedges the building, in less than nine hours, was restored to its original condition, without a brick being started. A Mr. Carpenter has the credit of this bold and successful act.

JEWS ACCOUNTING THE POPE THE MESSIAH.—The Siecle publishes the following letter dated Rome, 22d June. "The Pope has appointed a committee to inquire into the position of the Jews. His plan is to withdraw them from their detestable ghetto. There is a controversy in the ghetto on the subject of the Pope. 'Young Palestine' is of opinion that Pius IX is the Messiah. The Conservatives maintain that he is merely a great prophet. We have admitted five Jews into the circolo Romano. —Such an event never before occurred."

A GERMAN poet of some celebrity, Herman Maure, asserts that he has discovered a method of teaching young children to read, by which he undertakes in six hours to teach the most stupid child the art of reading fluently and correctly.

CIVILIZATION.—After remarking that the National Club asserts, that of the citizens of London 1,250,000 persons "never enter the walls of a religious edifice," and that "all our large towns are in a similar state," &c., the Dublin Nation of the 3rd ult. adds: "But all these horrors fade before the new atrocities revealed by the London Times of Saturday last, in which we find some remarks upon the 'undeniable increase of infanticide;' how innocent children are daily 'strangled, drowned, burnt, poisoned, starved and decapitated by wholesale;' how 'the murder of children has ceased to be murder in England,' and other fearful statements of a like character. This is horrible."

VERY EXPLICIT.—A Yankee, riding up to a Dutchman, exclaimed:

"Well, stranger, for acquaintance sake, what might be your name?"

"Vy, my name is Haunse Hollenboffen-iffinhoffengraffensteiner."

"By Cape Cod! that's long as punkin vine! Well, I can't ne time to lose—I'm on a speculation! Tell me the way to Harrisburg."

"To Harrisburg. Veil, you see dat roat pon de hill?" pointing in that direction.

"O yes, I see it."

"Veil, den, you musht not take dat roat. You see dis roat by de coal bank?"

"Yes."

"Veil, dat ish not de roat der, too; but you must go right straight py tee barn dere, and ven you see von roat juht so." [bending his elbows, and describing it at the same time,] "and ven you kii dere, keep right along till you gits furdur. Veil, den you vill turn the potatoe patch round, de pridge over de river up stream, and de hill up, and directly you see mine prodder Fritz's parrn, shingled mit straw, dat's de house where mine prodder lives. He'll dell you petter as I can. And you go little bit furdur, you see two roats—you must not take bote of 'em!"

The Yankee rode off at the top of his speed.

OBITUARY.

Died, at the Court House, Abbeville, on the 28th ultimo, ANASTASIA REBECCA, wife of Stuart Adair Godman, in the 21st year of her age.

That "we must needs die," and that "in the midst of life we are in death," are truths which this sad bereavement is well fitted to impress on every serious and thoughtful mind. For at the close of a single day's illness, we have seen the young, devoted, fondly cherished mother and wife called to part with all she loved, and all by whom she was beloved on earth, and to resign her spirit into the hands of her Creator. Surely such a scene is fraught with wholesome instruction for the living. To each one of us it seems to say, "Be ye also ready," and "whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave whither thou goest." —[Com.]

Died, at his residence in Monroe county, Miss., on the — of July, ROBERT SPENCE, in the sixty-third year of his age. The deceased was formerly a citizen of this District, and emigrated to the West in 1839, where he lived until the time of his death a worthy and exemplary citizen.
